Notes for ANGUS A. "BLINDMAN" MACDOUGALL:

18 Sept 2000 - Allan Gillis in Ottawa sent DJC a copy of a Diary that Angus A. maintained between 1921 and 1930. After 1930 he gradually became blind and was then known as the "Blindman." Many of his entries involved Dr. Chisholm in Port Hood delivering certain babies and even the first Mass that Dr. Chisholm's son, Fr. Jerome Chisholm celebrated as a Priest in Port Hood. His entry re "Joe the Pope" was of interest to Duncan J. Chisholm as on one occasion Duncan hitched a ride home from St. F. X. with Alex Laidlaw and Rev. Moses Coady and when passing "Joe the Pope's" house, Duncan mentioned to Rev. Coady that a very holy man lived in that house. Rev. Coady asked who and Duncan told him that "Joe the Pope" lived there. Laidlaw and Coady maintained their composure until Duncan was let off in Port Hood and then reportedly had a good laugh.

18 Feb 2004 - Angus was referred to in an an Issue of Am Braighe received today. He was not noted as a Gaelic singer but is remembered as someone steeped in Gaelic "seanachas" (genealogy, storytelling, history).

03 Nov 2000 - Reference page 519 in "Fair is the Place." Buddy worked as a station agent for the CNR for many years but he is best known as a violinist, having made many recordings and played at numerous dances. He has made several trips to Scotland and has played on the BBC Network. Buddy is an entertainer par excellence and has few equals, if any.

16 Nov 2000 - A few months ago Bernie Chisholm (brother to DJC) was talking to Buddy at the Red Shoe in Mabou and Buddy recounted an experience with Dr. Chisholm from Port Hood going back approx 65 years ago. Buddy had a beal (boil) on his foot that required attention. Dr. Chisholm met Buddy and his father at the front door and after inspecting his foot told them to wait on the doorstep. The Doctor came back out of the house with a knife in his hand and told Buddy to raise his foot and when Dr. Chisholm incised the boil, Buddy fell back and hit his head on the front step and was knocked out. When Buddy came to, he was back home in Judique, approx 10 miles from the Doctor's Office. Apparently Dr. Chisholm expected a complaint from his wife if a mess resulted inside the house so he used the front step as his operating theatre instead.
